Central Life

Betty Lou's Birthday - Dec 17th

Dear Ann —

Well, well, here I am writing in another "Echo". Don't forget Iris, and how excited we were when we got first place.
It sure was fun working for that contest. Don't forget how sweet that lemon tasted too! (or did it) Here I am back again. Isn't this writing just awful?
I really hope you aren't leaving, because our trio really could get far next year. I'm trying to fill up this whole page, but I'll probably get half-way thro' and quit. Right now I'm beginning to slow down. Remember how Mary and Elaine used to go out, and leave us two home, remember how mad we were! But some day we'll show 'em, won't we? When Eli goes South to Alabama (~~organizing~~) organizes a hill-billy trio, & you start singing in "Opera", and "me", I start singing with "Eddie Dutchin's" orchestra. Then we'll all get together at Eli's "great big enormous Southern Plantation".
I'll always think of Henry when I think of you (La, La) also Charlie Brown! "Almost forgot!" Laba Hill that head-some blond. Wasn't he cute tho'? I thought he was too! You two would have made a swell pair. He's good-looking, & so are you; he's fair, & you're so dark. I skip it! It's about time I started writing something sensible. My sincere best wishes for your happiness & success in the future, I really mean it. Please, don't ever, ever forget me.

With all my Love

Foreword

This is YOUR 1940 Echo . . . A book designed primarily to be a permanent record of YOUR school life at Central during the year . . . A book that is entirely new from cover to cover...A book whose theme contains the four objectives of education --- Self-Realization, Civic Responsibility, Human Relationship, and Economic Efficiency. Because this is YOUR book we have included more informal pictures of YOU at work. Thus, we believe this Echo truly reflects the character of the 1940 graduating class.

Dedication

Master of science, instructor of chemistry, Mr. George Dauplaise has taught at Central for the past eight years. To a gentleman, scholar, and understanding friend, we, the Senior Class of 1940, proudly dedicate this Echo.

Director

"Manages the school"

*My best wishes.
A. B. Rothwell.*

Mr. A. B. Rothwell, Principal

To be known as a graduate of Central High School is an honor coveted by every student who has attended the institution. The traditions of Central are sound, the reputation of Central is firm, the graduates of Central are loyal. Once again a senior class becomes absorbed into our great alumni group. Once again a senior class has faithfully contributed its share toward the maintenance and improvement of the standards upheld through the years by the student body and faculty. And once again graduates have before them the possibilities of marked accomplishment and happy living as a result of their experiences at Central.

Our faculty rejoices in the zest and the power and the accomplishments of our graduates of this year. We by no means consider graduation as a severing process. We do consider graduation as an inspirational event that will forever bind the futures of our young people to the association that only Central could provide.

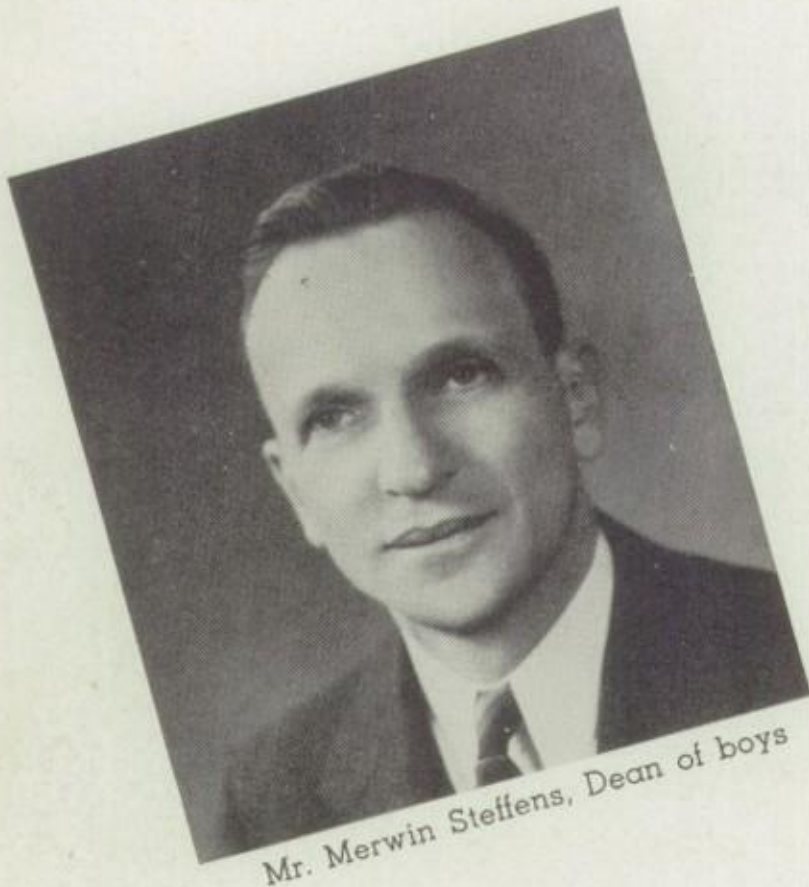

The student body and the faculty of Central are ever changing. No two years, no two months, scarcely any two days may be found when our personnel is exactly the same. Keen satisfaction and wholesome enjoyment is therefore felt when one realizes that he has been privileged to be one of that group making contribution to the great old name "Central."

Seniors, today the honors are all yours. The sophomores and the juniors now become obliged to accept the challenge which you leave—"March on, Old Central."

— A. B. Rothwell, principal.

Deans

"Always willing to help"

Mr. Merwin Steffens, Dean of boys

M. R. Steffens, dean of boys, stands ready at all times to assist boys in their personal or school problems. He may be consulted for advice regarding program of studies, employment, or living quarters. He acts on all disciplinary cases and on all attendance problems. He issues tardy passes to boys for return to class work. Mr. Steffens is adviser to the honorary club, Leroy Doleysh Post, and is one of the advisers to the Student Council. He also teaches two classes in Problems of Democracy.

Miss Minnie Rasmussen, Dean of girls

Miss Minnie Rasmussen, dean of girls, has aided many students in finding solutions to the problems arising in school life. She cheerfully gives advice on what subjects to take, and counsels many on future vocations. She also assists girls who wish to find homes where they may work for board and room in order to attend Central. Tardy passes are issued from the dean's office for admittance to class. For her sage guidance Dean Rasmussen has won the respect of every girl who has come in contact with her. Miss Rasmussen also teaches World Literature and is one of the advisers to the Student Council.

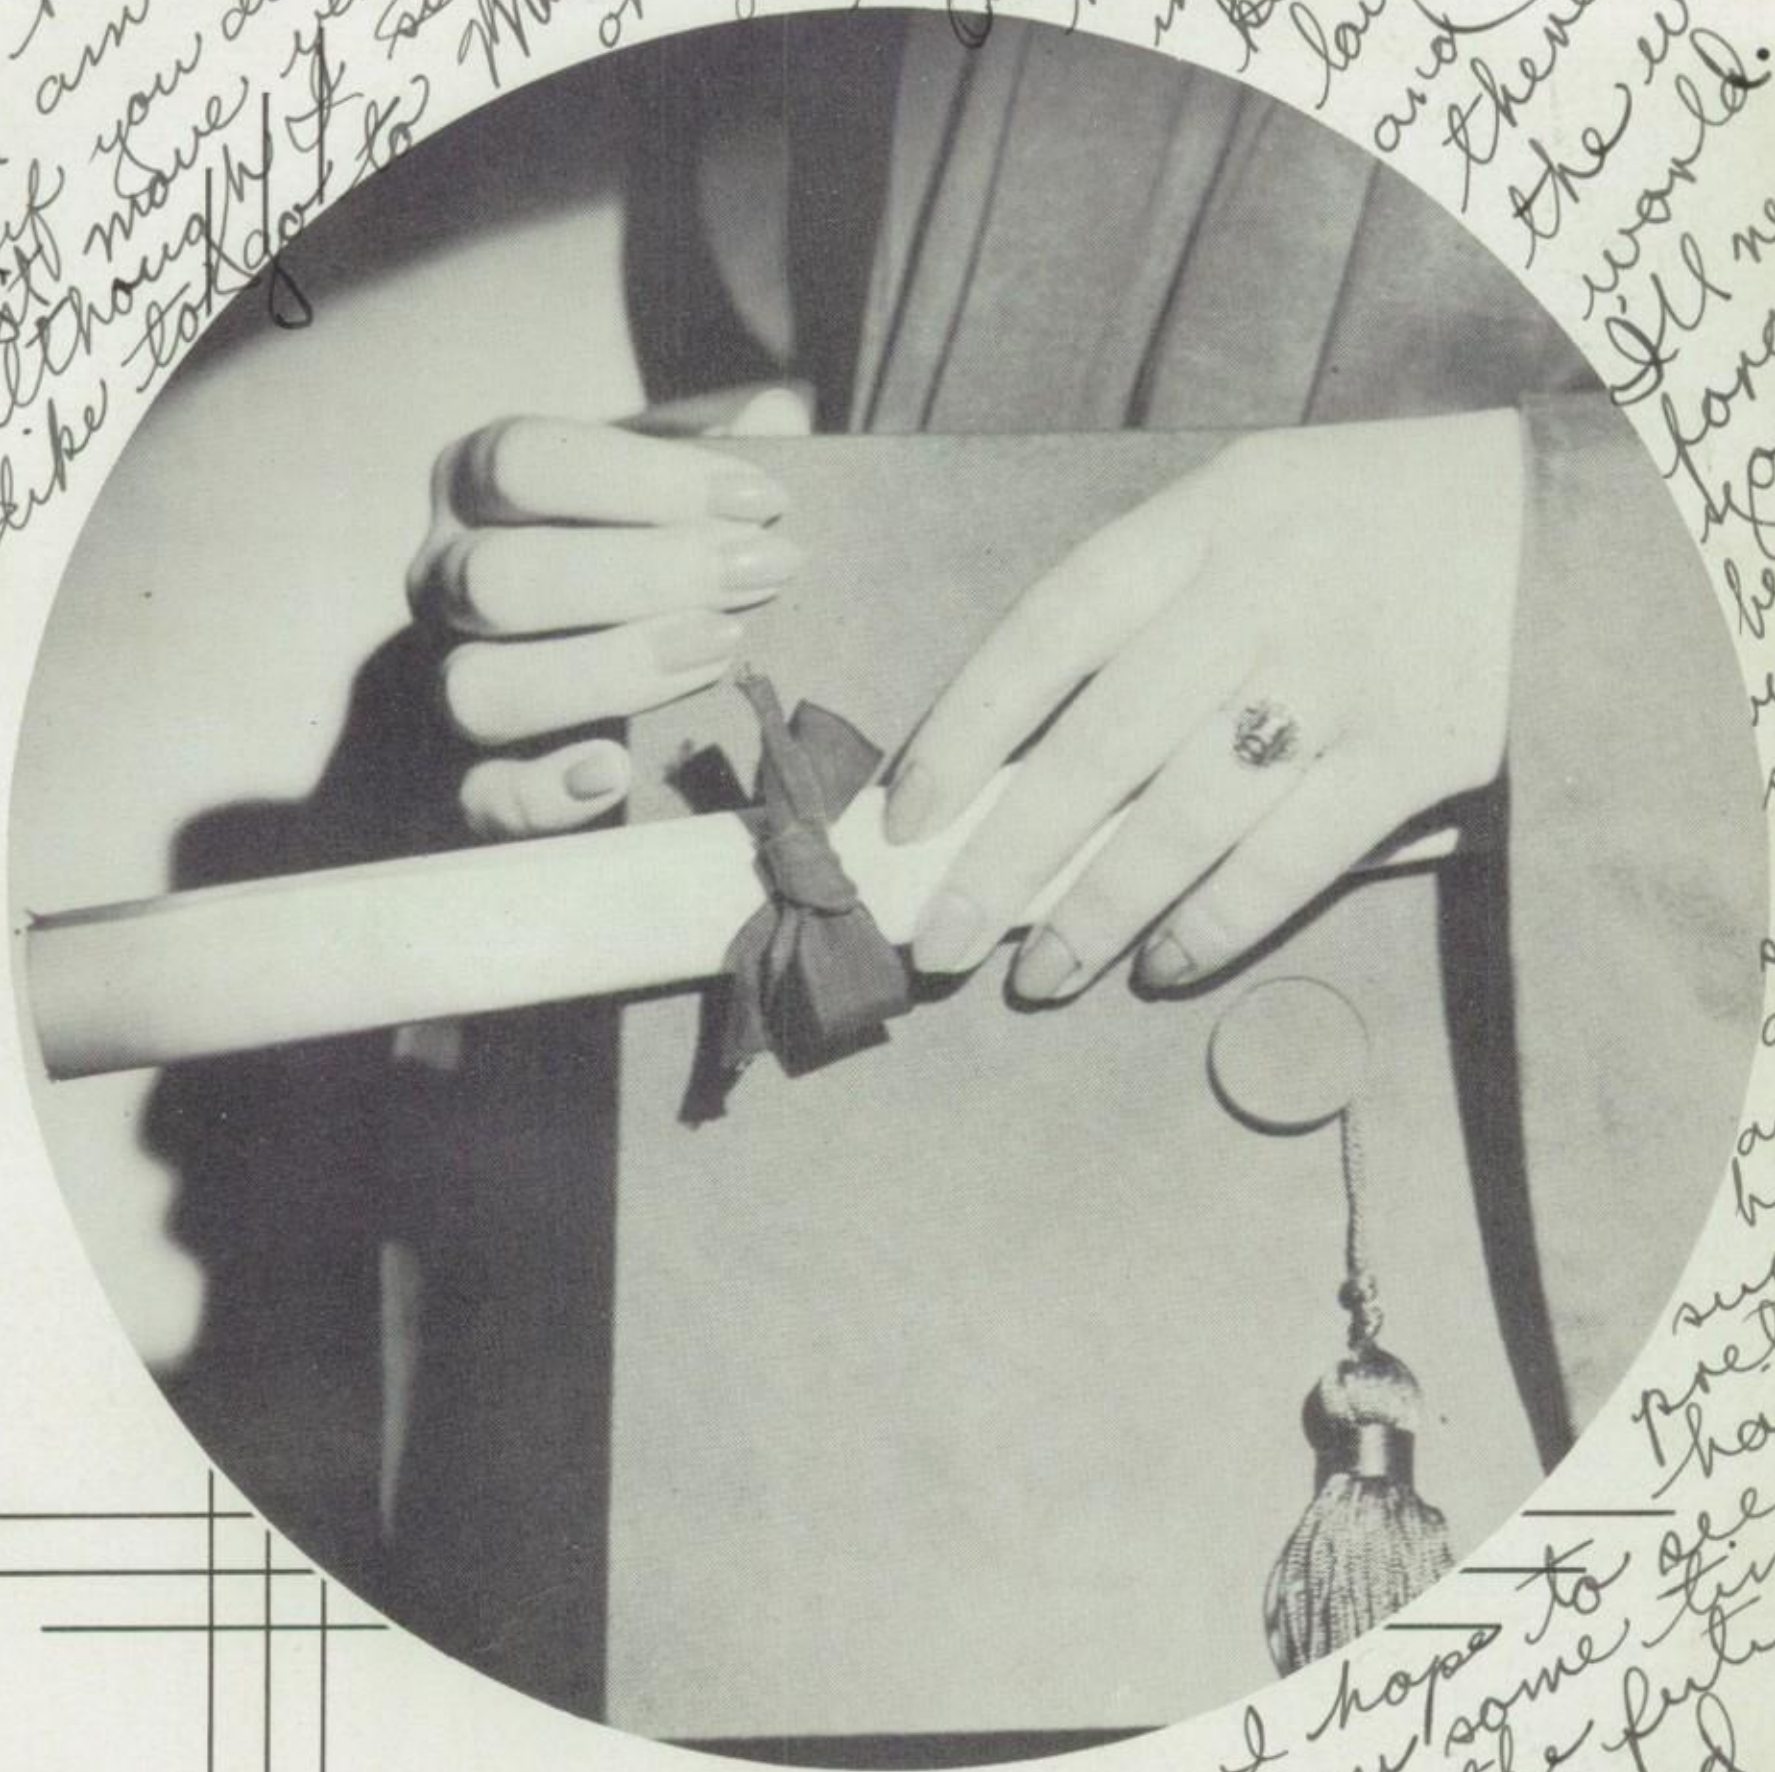

Miss Bessie Johnston and Miss Mildred Molenda, secretaries to the principal.

Miss Bessie Johnston, secretary to Principal Rothwell, has charge of all transcripts, budgets, inventories, correspondence, requisitions, filing, credits, and senior honor roll. Hers is a job with many details.

Miss Mildred Molenda, attendance secretary, is in charge of all attendance, makes out the absence sheets, calls the homes for reasons of absence, and makes out all student programs.

Dear Anne,
 I enjoyed have, sure
 you. And knowing moving if you do. I hope you lost, now, you last away all though, I suppose you'd like to go to Minneapolis or some other town.
 Anyway, I'm sure
 I'll have a love

They're all wrapped up in music

For those students whose talents lie in the field of music, Central offers the band, orchestra, and a cappella choir. The bigger band and orchestra instruments such as the string basses, tubas, sousaphones, drums, tympani, and cellos are furnished by the Board of Education. Lessons are given by Jay Fisher on the stringed instruments and by S. Brinley Shaw on the woodwinds and brass.

Before any boy or girl can be eligible for the a cappella choir he must have had a whole year's training in either the boys' or girls' glee club. It is in these organizations that the individual learns to coordinate his voice with those about him, thus producing a better choral group. Mr. Meier teaches glee club, a cappella choir, and senior orchestra.

Junior orchestra, taught by S. Brinley Shaw, is offered for those students who have not mastered the scale runs. Mr. Shaw also directs the school band.

Sophomore English, taught by Miss Bardon, Mrs. Whipple, Miss Currie, and Mr. Graber, offers the student the fundamental principles of composition and literature.

Junior English, under the title of American Literature, delves into the lives and works of the great men in American prose and poetry. Miss Harvey and Miss Currie are the instructors.

One semester of the course is spent in the study of public speaking and journalism, taught, respectively, by Mr. Taylor and Mr. Oiseth. Miss Lomoe also teaches American literature, but it is in conjunction with American history.

Senior English may be obtained from one of three sources: Current literature taught by Miss Harvey; English literature, by Miss Dickinson, and World literature under Dean Rasmussen.

Devil's Pi, Echo, Dramatics, or Public Speaking is available to juniors and seniors alike and full class credit is given.

Handicraft

"Sewing, cooking, photography, and art"

Domestic arts—sewing, cooking, and household management, under supervision of Miss Stack, Miss Pickering, and Miss Mitchell, respectively, are beneficial courses to all who choose them. In sewing girls are instructed in the art of dressmaking, fancy work, and working with different materials. Studying the content of food, planning meals, and actual cooking is only a small part of the foods course.

Under Miss Mitchell, each girl taking household management learns how to economically run a household, plan a budget, and other essential factors pertaining to management. Other types of handicraft include art, photography, and crafts for boys as well as girls. Under the direction of Miss Rehnstrand, such forms of art as painting, sketching, modeling, and metal work are taught. Photography, with Mr. Boss as instructor, is a combination of art and the actual photographing of the picture.

The third course, crafts, is exactly what the name implies. In this class, leather work, block printing, etching, and clay modeling are done throughout the year.

One of the traditions at Central is the annual purchase by the senior class of a gift to be left in remembrance.

Other activities carried out by the senior class were the presenting of "You Can't Take It With You" as the annual dramatic production, and the publishing of the 1940 Echo.

Rallies for favorite candidates, talks over the sound system, and publicity posters constituted the active election campaign of the junior class at the beginning of this year. The prom committee and class officers, aided by faculty advisers, carried on the most important class project of the year, the junior-senior prom. A motion picture, Little Men, was sponsored as a means of raising money for the event.

Chairmen of the prom committees were: James Graham, publicity; Priscilla Jorgenson, invitations; Patricia Ryan, music; Margaret Hammerbeck, social; Floyd Andrews, programs; Betty Thompson and Thomas Stewart, decorations.

Faculty advisers were: Dr. Halich, chairman; Miss Currie, Miss Hathaway, Miss Jay, Miss Lomoe, Miss Niles, Mrs. Thompson, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Mahnke, Mr. Dauplaise, Mr. Yaworski, Mr. Minguely, Mr. Anderson.

Class Officers were: Bernard Arseneau, president; Roland Tollers, vice-president; James Graham, secretary; Eilla Mae Skamser, treasurer.

Cooperating with faculty advisers and newly-elected officers, the sophomore class sponsored a closed mixer early in the first semester. The class was well represented in athletics, producing many promising boys for future basketball and football teams.

Advisers stressed a student guidance program in home-rooms consisting of study hints, a health plan, study in sportsmanship, orientation of students by the handbook to better acquaint them with various courses open to them. This enables the students to more efficiently and expediently plan their programs. Faculty advisers for the year were: Mr. Wilkins, chairman; Mrs. Whipple, Miss Bardon, Mr. Jacobson, Mr. Boss, and Mr. Shaw. Art Club

"We saw their exhibit"

Any girl taking art is eligible to join the Art club, the only organization in school giving girls a chance to study art for appreciation values and to create beautiful things.

All activities undertaken by the club are in reality a further study in art. Once a year the club exhibits all drawings, pastels, charcoal, oils or inks, clay and soap figures, and metal work in the school library. In the way of social activities, the club held a Christmas party and an initiation party at which 15 girls were admitted to the club.

Making money is naturally one of the big projects of any club. This year the club designed and sold Christmas cards, and had two candy sales.

Officers for the year were Carole Larsen, president; Shirley Walker, vice-president; Peggy Nichols, secretary; and Betty Jane Gronquist, treasurer.

The faculty adviser to the club is Miss Rehnstrand, art instructor.

Wood carving, soap carving, miniature stages, clay modeling, leatherwork, exhibiting of models made by members, designing stage scenery for the play "Little Women", special lectures and demonstrations by artists were among the activities for the year in the Craft club. To make money the boys sold some of the novelties they had made.

Spending an afternoon or two a week doing the things they like to do and to acquaint the members with the various crafts was the purpose of this year's Craft club.

Mr. Tony Yaworski is the adviser.

Officers for the first semester were: John Waint, president; John Dunigan, vice-president; Bob Swanson, secretary; Bob Gangnon, treasurer.

Second semester officers were: Lloyd Aker, president; Robert Devine, vice-president; Bob Swanson, secretary; George Laberdie, treasurer.

Dramatics

Fostering and promoting interest and better appreciation of dramatic art is the purpose of the Dramatics club. This club sponsors one major dramatic attraction a year. A three-act play was presented in the latter part of April. The well-known "Stage Door" was the production this year. Membership of the club is determined on the basis of honor points earned by the actual performers in these productions.

Assisting in all other dramatic and radio plays is another of their activities. Again this year 36 original plays were written to be submitted to the judges of a contest. Central's own playwrights hold the distinction of having taken first place for three consecutive year.

Being part of the Wisconsin Dramatic Guild is one of the worthwhile privileges of this organization. Work is not their sole purpose, for they have the fun and pleasure of one social event at the close of the school year.

Officers elected this year were: Robert Rule, president; Kenneth Peterson, vice-president; Dorothy Brayton, secretary; Lauren Dixon, production manager; Joe Cook, business manager. Mr. Taylor is the adviser.

Shuttermen

"Took 500 pictures for Echo"

Organized two years ago, the Shutterman club now has sixteen members. The club's officers were George Corbett, president; William Whitsitt, vice-president; William Rothwell, secretary.

The first annual Shutterman's Ball was held February 16, with William Whitsitt acting as general chairman. Before the dance a swing session was held. Illustrated lectures, taking identification pictures, pictures for the Echo, and sponsoring snap-shot contests are all a part of their activities. The purpose is to foster and create an interest in photography.

In the fall of the year, the Coquina club staged several hikes, evening outings, and an initiation party at which 16 girls became members. At Christmas time, the girls entertained children from the Children's Home.

Candy sales were held every night after school in the main hall during the first semester, and at all the basketball games to make money for the club. Coquina club members participated in many school activities including the Co-ed ball, and the Homecoming queen contest. In the spring of the year the girls held a tea in honor of their mothers and a formal banquet honoring the outgoing members.

Officers of the club are: Clara Eklof, president; Jane Larsen, vice-president; Anna Mae Murphy, secretary-treasurer.

Adviser to the Coquinas is Miss Mitchell, home economics instructor.

"Sponsors of homecoming float contest"

Officers for the Girls' Athletic Association are president, Eurette Mosentine; vice-president, Doris Phillips; secretary, Fay Johnson; treasurer, Elaine Carlson. The club sponsored the Homecoming parade contest and gave the pennant to the Dromio club for the sixth consecutive time. The G. A. A. entered the Co-ed ball contest and their candidate, Doris Phillips, was elected queen to preside over the ball. They also took part in the Inter-club banquet at the end of the year.

Activities for the year included an initiation party at which 15 girls were admitted to the club, a skating party, and a toboggan party. After their meeting the girls play either basketball, ping pong, or volleyball.

The adviser of the club is Miss Colby.

First semester editor of the Devil's Pi was Joe Cook. Under his able direction an efficient staff edited a prize-winning newspaper. Three delegates were sent to the National Scholastic Press association convention in Chicago. They were Joe Cook, Marianna Myers, and Patricia Ryan. During the convention Joe was one of three high school students who spoke on the Columbia Broadcasting System's famous "Bull Session" program over a nation-wide hook-up. The Devil's Pi also put through their candidate, Patricia Ryan, for the queen of the Homecoming festivities.

Second semester the co-editor plan in which the two elected share the responsibilities of the editorship was put into effect. Marianna Myers and Jean Dauplaise were appointed co-editors.

Echo Staff

To put out a yearbook that tells vividly the story of the school year is the purpose of the Echo class. Edna Marie Olsen and Beverlee Barrett were chosen as the co-editors, with John Christianson as business manager. Dr. Halich and Mr. Oiseth acted as advisers to the business and editorial staffs respectively.

From November, when the staff goes into action, to April, when the book goes to press, everyone on the Echo works at top speed. New and varied page layouts must be made, and good pictures must be taken.

To get the book out on time, the staff stayed after school many nights until six o'clock. Bill Rothwell, George Corbett, and Dick Chase were in charge of photography.

Last November the Echo class sent seven delegates to the convention in Chicago of the National Scholastic Press association. Those who attended were Edna Marie Olsen, Eilla Mae Skamser, Beverlee Barrett, Fay Thompson, Dick Chase, George Corbett, and Duncan Powers.

FARCE

To teach the fundamental principles of acting and their application is the purpose of the dramatics course. During the year the students learn the correct way to apply stage make-up for character roles, for straight roles, and to apply the correct make-up for everyday street use. Correct walking and sitting posture is taught along with the actual acting exercises. Voice improvement is a major part of the course.

Twice a year the dramatics class presents to the student body a group of one-act plays. Those given in the first of the series were, "The Spider," "The Ring and the Look," and "The Unicorn and the Fish."

One assignment for the class is for each student to write a one-act play, the best four to be entered in the state-wide competition. For the past three years, a student from Central has placed first in this contest. Those students whose plays were sent to the contest this year were Doris Lendu, Helen Skoog, Aldeen Frye, and Gerald Binder. The dramatics instructor is Mr. J. Arthur Taylor.

*Dear Ann,
Have enjoyed having you in orchestra and hope you have a successful next year.*

For those students who have mastered the fundamental scales and exercises, Senior orchestra is offered. The orchestra, a unit of about 55 members, is directed by Mr. Louis A. Meier.

During the course of study, public appearances must be made. Concerts are given to students and adults alike. On these programs the works of both the old composers and the new are presented. A suite of Hayden symphonies, "The Marx Overture", by Hayden Wood, and "The Gypsy Overture" were a few of the compositions presented.

This year the music department played host to the district music contest, held formerly in Ashland. From all parts of upper Wisconsin schools enter contestants to be judged either vocally or instrumentally.

Another division of the orchestra is the String Ensemble, under the direction of Jay Fisher. This group of 15 members specializes in chamber music. The Junior orchestra, taught by Mr. Shaw, is for the pupils who have not as yet mastered chords and scale runs. It is this organization that prepares them for the Senior orchestra.

Band

Jack Paquette

"Combines symphony with pep"

Strutting down the street in front of an 82-piece band were Scotty MacGregor, drum major, Bob McCart, Jack Vaughn, Ruth Isaacson, and Winnifred Harnden, assistants. The band, under the direction of Mr. S. Brinley Shaw, placed second in the annual "Battle of the Bands" in Duluth.

This year for the first time in the history of the band, popular music has been placed on the program along with the classical and marching compositions. This plan is not unusual for many of the high schools throughout the country.

Public appearances of the band take place at all school pep rallies, football, and basketball games. Four concerts are given for the students taking the activity plan.

The band as a unit paraded in the Homecoming festivities, the Winter Carnival procession and at various other times throughout the year.

At the International Bonspiel held this year in Superior, the band added to the musical portion of the program by rendering several selections. The program was broadcast over a nation-wide hook-up. Band dances were held every Saturday night to pay for uniforms for new members.

Glee Clubs

Forming an auxiliary to the A Cappella choir are the thirty male voices comprising the Boys' Glee club. Although not as active as other musical groups, the glee club sang two songs with the choir at the annual Christmas program. At this time they sang "Silent Night" and "The First Noel."

The group meets twice weekly, during the first hour. They are preparing to enter the choir.

There are no special requirements given to enter the glee clubs other than that the student be interested in music.

Preparing to enter any vacancy in the a cappella choir next year are the 87 members of the Girls Glee club, under the able direction of Mr. Louis Meier. Two days a week are given to this class and only a half credit is gained for the year.

At the beginning of the year officers are elected for each class. These students keep record of all the music, take roll call, and help their respective group to run smoothly.

The glee club practices the same songs as the choir so that any needed students may be used at the music festival in May. Only a selected few sing at this time.

A test is given every six weeks. Four voices are tested at one time and the grades are given according to how well they know their part and the amount of head tone used while singing. A few minutes at the beginning of every period are taken to learn the fundamentals of head tones. Then, while singing each number, the students apply the knowledge they have gained to produce this kind of tone.

Starting off their musical year on November 10, 1939, the a cappella choir, under the direction of Mr. Louis Meier, sang over radio station WDSM for the city-wide educational program. The theme song, "Hail To Our Schools," was written by Mr. Meier.

In November the choir appeared before the Superior Council of Teachers. In January a combined concert was given which included the entire music department.

One section of the choir, the Tudor group, traveled to Cloquet January 5, where they gave selections before the Women's Friday club. A mixed boys' chorus from the choir and glee clubs sang two Latin songs on a radio program presented by Miss Niles on February 23.

This year for the first time the a cappella choir, Mr. Meier, and the rest of the music department played host to sixteen schools of northern Wisconsin on May 11, when the music festival was held.

The choir, impressive in purple and white garb, boasts a group of 70 mixed voices. Practice is held daily and full credit is given, the same as for any other course

History

"Dates, documents, discussion"

Mr. Maurice Brown

World History

Miss Mary Hathaway, American History

Sophomore history, more familiarly referred to as World History, is a subject dealing with the progress of the world's civilization from the days of the Neanderthal man down to the present highly educated individual. Students taking this subject are taught how different countries have functioned throughout the ages, survived invasions and wars, to become what they are today.

Current reading comes in the form of newspapers, and map and graph work play an important part of the study. Mr. Brown and Mr. Nadolski teach the subject.

From the days when Leif Erickson first set foot upon the continent of North America, through the days of early colonization, up to the present administration is the period of time covered by the course in American History. Special reports were made dealing with the lives of great men who have played an important role in the building of this nation. Teachers of this subject were Dr. Halich, Miss Hathaway, Mr. McGettigan, and Miss Lomoe.

Getting information on "Benefits of Democracy.."

Taking the place of civics and sociology, Problems of Democracy presents a new combined study of both. From class discussions, comparisons are drawn between the existing social and economic orders of our government and those of foreign countries.

Among the topics for discussion, in addition to those mentioned above, were crime, tariff, advantages and disadvantages of propaganda. Teaching the subject were Mr. Anderson, Mr. McGettigan, Mr. Steffens, and Mr. Whittington

Teas, birthdays, and rushers held the spotlight among social activities of the Library club. The club visited the museum, were honored by talks on art by Miss Dickinson, and on foreign coins by Dean Rasmussen. Due to the lack of help in the library, the girls have taken complete charge of the desk and have thus gained first hand knowledge of the working order of a public library. Miss Athalie Harper, school librarian, is the adviser.

With Mr. Dauplaise as its faculty adviser, the Radio club strives to interest its members in all phases of radio, and chiefly in the attainment of an amateur's license. The members have become proficient at receiving the code that is dictated. Officers of the club were: Lowell Olson, president; Frederick Richardson, vice-president; Robert Boyle, secretary; and Oscar Peterson, treasurer.

Boosters enter all school activities including the Inter-club banquet, the Co-ed ball, and the Homecoming parade. A tea was held for the faculty members in the spring of the year. Patricia Ryan, a Booster, although sponsored by the Devil's Pi, was queen of the Homecoming parade. Roberta Vince, sponsored by the club, won third place. A Thanksgiving dance on the 25th of November and the traditional Christmas formal was held to make money for the club's activities. After basketball season a football-basketball banquet was held at which all those boys who went out for either of the sports were the honored guests.

First semester officers were: Betty Ann Fowler, president; Margery McKenzie, vice-president; Anne Sprowls, secretary; Edna Marie Olsen, treasurer; Patricia Ryan, publicity chairman. Second semester officers were: Joyce McPherson, president; Margery Vince, vice-president; Anne Sprowls, secretary; Edna Marie Olsen, treasurer.

Among the many activities undertaken this year by the Dromio club was the initiation party, the tea for all members and their parents, the annual banquet, and the formal "Cherry Blossom" ball.

For the sixth successive year the Dromios won the Homecoming parade contest for the most original float. They presented two plays during the year as is the tradition of the club. The first, "Little Women," was for the student body of Central, and the second was "Three Little Pigs," given for all the youngsters attending grade school in the city.

Starting this year is the practice of giving a $50 scholarship to some deserving student. Members have also taken it onto themselves to decorate and furnish the girls' dressing room in the Victorian period.

First semester officers of the club were: Bob Rule, president; Kenneth West, vice-president; Doris Yanda, secretary; Virginia Timm, treasurer. Second semester officers included: Joe Cook, president; Kenneth West, vice-president; Margaret Engstrom, secretary; Fred Prierwert, treasurer. Adviser to the club is Miss Currie.

The aim of the Cockade club is to do something every year for someone else. This year they took care of a family that would not have had a very cheerful Christmas had it not been for the Cockade club. To make money they held a turkey raffle at Thanksgiving time.

They take part in many school activities. Katherine Kaggerud was the candidate for queen of the Co-ed ball from the Cockade club. They entered a float in the Homecoming parade and attended the Inter-club banquet at the end of the school year.

Officers were: Beatrice Azemove, president; Aldeen Frye, vice-president; Katherine Kaggerud, secretary; Evelyn McDougal, treasurer. Miss Harvey is the adviser.

Scribblers

"Promoting poetic penmanship"

An honorary club at Central, the Scribblers meet once a month. The group is composed of persons having talent for writing prose and poetry.

The Scribblers hold the distinction of being the largest club in school. Some of the meetings are used for writing prose and poetry for the annual booklet. Other meetings are in the form of parties. Among the duties were the writing and submitting of news articles to the Evening Telegram.

Membership is acquired through submitting original works in poetry, prose, or essays. The adviser and a committee from the club then acts as judge and grants memberships to those handing in the winning compositions.

Faculty adviser and guide is Mrs. Whipple. Club officers were: Harold Partelow, president; Laura Conroy, vice-president; Virginia Zibell, secretary; Jim Graham, treasurer.

In order to be a member of the honorary club, Leroy Doleysh Post, a student must hold an American Legion award from the ninth grade of the Junior high school. Each year awards are given to the most outstanding boy and girl in the ninth grade on the basis of courage, companionship, character, service and scholarship. To the next 10 runners-up, five girls and five boys, are given honorary awards.

A scavenger hunt held at Richard Link's home, was the form of initiation used to welcome the 48 new members into the club.

Officers for the first semester were: Beatrice Olson, president; Gene Prideaux, vice-president; Anna Mae Murphy, secretary; Virginia-lee Mead, treasurer.
Mr. Steffens is the adviser.

Jr. Red Cross

"They serve"

Every year the Junior Red Cross prepares and sends a portfolio of Superior scenes to some foreign country. This year it was Australia, and from that country came a similar portfolio in return.

Activities for the year included an initiation party and a tea attended by Mrs. Dunbar, who is in charge of the local Red Cross, and Margaret Anderson, from Duluth Denfeld high school. The club also took charge of the school's annual Red Cross roll call and placed boxes in both the front hall and lower lunchroom for the collection of tinfoil.

Officers for the year were: Jacquin Brownlee, president; Helen McCullough, vice-president; Beatrice Brewer, secretary-treasurer. Miss Hathaway is the faculty adviser.

Conservation

"Woodman! Spare that tree"

Started for the purpose of teaching how to conserve wild life, the Conservation club activities are confined to that study. The initiation banquet menu was composed of a venison supper with the side dishes consisting of vegetables growing wild in this territory. Speakers at the banquet were Professor McCarthy of State Teachers College and Mr. Carlson from the Brule Camp.

During Christmas vacation the club looked over the Virgin forest region and put up bird and deer feeding stations in the burned areas of northern Wisconsin. Another project was the exhibit in the school library showing eight different methods of feeding winter birds in this locality.

Officers of the club were: president, Ralph Benson; vice-president, Bill Curran; secretary-treasurer, Robert E. Olson; publicity chairman, Roy Shoemaker. Mr. Jacobson is the adviser.

Taking over the responsibility of seeing to it that proper conduct is maintained at band dances is one of the major activities of the Hi-Y club for boys. Besides this they sponsor two dances, the Starlight dance in the spring, and the Homecoming dance after the homecoming football game. Every Saturday night they swim at the local Y. M. C. A., and every other Wednesday night they play basketball in the big gym. During the year they have two closed parties.

An electoral college, made up of old members of the club, decides how many will be accepted each year into the club. To keep the membership up to 36 members, 14 boys were taken into the group this year.

Officers for the year were: Dick King, president; Douglas Miller, vice-president; Don Gilmore, secretary; Jim Graham, treasurer; Bob Nelson, chaplain. Mr. Brown is the adviser.

"Lend me your ears"

Those students who receive more than 20 credit points during the year in actual debates are eligible to become members of the National Forensic League. The question for debate this year was "Resolved: that the federal government should own and operate the railroads." Debating this question in the annual district contest at Chippewa Falls were Aldeen Frye and Edward Fritz, affirmative, Elmer Dahl and Burton Rudolph, negative, Duane Comport, alternate. The teams met in debates with Cloquet, Spooner, Washburn, Duluth Central, Denfeld, East, and Duluth Cathedral.

The debate season ended in April, with the remainder of the year spent in practical work in speech, such as extemporaneous speaking, and improving delivery and diction. The purpose of offering debate is to give the student practical experience in analyzing a question, assimilating facts, drawing conclusions, and presenting that information on a public platform. Mr. Whittington and Mr. Romiti were the advisers during the year.

Student Council

"Democracy in miniature"

Organized four years ago at the suggestion of Principal Rothwell, the Student Council has become a recognized form of student expression on vital issues concerning the conduct and behavior of the school. At the beginning of the school year each home room elected two representatives, one boy and one girl, to attend the meetings held the first Monday of each month in the library. Each representative must attend every meeting and, in the case where he is absent for three meetings in a row, a new delegate is elected in his place. The term of office in the Student Council lasts the whole year. Altogether the Council comprises 82 members.

Officers include: Robert Rule, president; Warren Smith, vice-president; Richard Norseen, secretary; Ralph Benson, treasurer; and an executive board of 11 members. Officers of the organization are also members of the executive board.

Student Council

This year the Student Council established the monitor system, took up the fight to get a new auditorium for the school, and established a court for student offenders. The body as a whole co-operated with the music department as acting host to orchestras, bands, and glee clubs, who came to Superior in May for the district contest.

The two deans, Mr. Steffens and Miss Rasmussen, and the principal, Mr. Rothwell, act as advisers to the group.

Chosen from the speech and dramatics classes because of the quality of their voices, the radio commissioners give the morning announcements over the sound system every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

An editing committee, composed of Mr. Taylor, adviser, Joe Cook, general director, and Aldeen Frye, script writer, was started to check each announcement going over the air in the morning. The commissioners work in pairs, each two working for one week. Announcements are collected the night before they are to be given. Then they are edited and written in novel ways to catch the listeners' ear. Technical directors of the staff are Elmer Dahl and Loren Dixon.

Working in Central's science department are Mr. Jacobson, Miss Colby, Mr. Boss, Mr. Jackson, and Mr. Wilkins. The physics department, under Mr. Jackson, began the first semester by studying the fundamentals of physics. The second semester was spent in the study of light and sound.

Mr. Jacobson, Mr. Boss, and Mr. Wilkins are in charge of the biology department which spends most of the year in the study of plant and animal life. The functions and care of the human body were studied by Miss Colby's physiology classes.

The chemistry classes, under direction of Mr. Dauplaise, study various industrial chemical methods. They also perform experiments in the laboratory to test processes developed by such scientists as Lavoisier, Priestly, and Scheele.

Miss Jay's French class has studied, besides the regular exercises, the works of two great French authors, Dumas and Zola. This year, a third year student, June Hall received the entire works of Racine as a reward for her translation of that author in a state-wide contest.

The fundamental sounds of word formation of the German language are taught in first year German by Mr. Graber. First year Latin, a study of the elementary nouns and verbs, is taught by Miss Niles.

"Girls, remember the Co-ed Ball?"

Business and social meetings, games, dancing, and programs was the procedure followed last winter by the Order of Commercial Artists. The club entered a float in the Homecoming parade and won third place. They also sponsored their fifth annual Co-ed Ball, and visited the Douglas County Historical Museum to see the special doll exhibit. At Christmas time they had a party and prepared a large basket of food for a needy family. The O.C.A.'s have two dinners: one is the Valentine dinner, and the other a farewell banquet to members who are seniors.

The club compiles the Honor Roll at the end of each six-weeks' period. Expenses for activities of the club are met with proceeds from candy sales after school.

Officers for the first semester were: Glennis Albright, president; Helen Brecke, vice-president; Lorraine Hughson, secretary; Lorraine Stevens, treasurer; Harriet Eliason and Lorraine Rasmussen, honor roll compilers. Officers for the second semester were: Glennis Albright, president; Gloria Charbonneau, vice-president; Lorraine Stevens, secretary; Winnifred Harnden, treasurer; Edith Francisco and Ruby Ross, honor roll compilers. Officers for the first semester were: president, Jean Lundberg; vice-president, Audrey Hill; secretary, Margaret Moe; treasurer, Angeline Lund. Second semester officers were: president, Ruth Kleppe; vice-president, Jean Molene; secretary, Olga Ahlberg; treasurer, Audrey Hill.

An initiation dinner, a winter skating party, and the annual banquet at which they entertained the members of the Order of Commercial Artists were a few of the social activities undertaken this year by the club. Throughout the year home-made candy sales were held in the front hall. The members enter all high school programs including the co-ed ball, and the Homecoming contest.

French Club

"Have You Tried a Praline?"

This club is interested in acquainting its members with French customs and people. Every year a Christmas tea is given by the club for all students of French at which the cuisine as well as the speaker is French. The club has presented as guest speakers Rev. Father Giraud of the French Catholic Church and Mrs. Earl Foizie, a countess born and raised in France.

Worthwhile French movies have inspired several enjoyable theatre parties. The club has seen such classics as "Marie Antoinette" and Victor Hugo's "Hunchback of Notre Dame." Money-making projects include making and selling pralines, a specialty of French-town in New Orleans, and also selling a cook book of prize French recipes.

One of the most worthwhile undertakings of this club is the offering of a five dollar prize to the best French student at Central. The winner is determined by an examination which all advanced French students take.

In addition to these activities which carry out the main purpose of the organization, the French club takes part in all Central club activities such as the homecoming parade, vaudeville, and inter-club banquet. There are also numerous social activities throughout the year which the club sponsors for its members only, among the most important of which is the banquet in honor of the senior members.

German Club

"Wasn't the Sweater Dance swell?"

Members of the German club have had a full and varied year. On October 27, the initiation party was held at which 21 persons were admitted to the club. They sponsored the Homecoming queen contest and decorated the second place float winner, the queen's float. A mothers' tea was held May 1. June Landahl was the German club candidate for queen of the co-ed ball. She also served as chairman of the Sweater Dance. For the most outstanding student of German during the year the club offered a scholarship.

In the way of making money for the club, a Thanksgiving mixer was held November 1, the Sweater Dance January 22, on April 6 the Spring Dance, and two candy sales in the front hall after school.

The aim of this year's German club is to gain a better understanding of the German people and their culture.

Girls' tennis team: Mickelson, Myers, Huber, Barrett

This year for the first time in the history of Central a girls' tennis team was organized. Under the direction of Miss Colby, girls' athletics director. The team played several matches within their own ranks. The purpose of having a girls' tennis team is to give those girls who are interested, a chance to meet in active competition and improve their game. During the winter months the team practiced the fundamental strokes of offensive and defensive play in the small gym. Matches have been scheduled with girls' teams from other schools during the summer months. The four charter members, Faith Mickelsen, Elizabeth Huber, Marianna Myers, and Beverlee Barrett, are pictured at the left.

Girls' Sports

"Amazons in action"

At the beginning of the school year touch football was started for a two-fold purpose. First, to teach the girls the fundamental plays and rules of the game; secondly, to teach them to be intelligent and observant spectators.

To fill in the time between outdoor sports and basketball, a volleyball tournament was started. Each girls' gym class was divided into four squads and played against the squads of the other classes. The winner of the tournament was Betty Ross' team from the sixth hour Tuesday-Thursday class.

In the latter part of February the regular basketball was started and continued until the first part of April, with the same squads as the volleyball tournament vying for the championship.

In April indoor bowling and golf was introduced to the girls having classes in the big gym. Ping Pong and badminton was offered for those in the small gym.

Henry and George exhort the fans

At the cheerleading contest in the fall of the year, George Zanuzoski, Henry Kalinoski, Lorraine Tebeau, and Muriel Cole were elected to the job of pepping up the school in rallies before all school games. Moreover, it was their job to keep the school pepped up during football or basketball games, no matter what the score might be.

To keep the squad in practice and to try out new yells, Jack Stanfield was elected coach. It was his duty to plan each rally and see to it that the uniforms are cleaned and ready for use for the rallies and games.

"They supply the strategy"

This year Head Coach Harry Conley and Assistant Coach Ray McGettigan received a valuable addition to their coaching staff. The new assistant is Verner Anderson, who formerly coached at Ladysmith, Wis. Mr. Anderson graduated from Central in 1927 after making a brilliant record in football and basketball. Later he attended Northwestern university and gained fame as an end.

Assistant Coach McGettigan was known as one of the flashiest backs that Superior State has ever seen on its gridiron. Mr. Conley also has an outstanding athletic record, having been especially prominent in boxing.

Two weeks of intensive training highlighted the preliminary to the regular football season. Under Anderson, who directed the calisthenics or "grass drills," the boys lost their summer softness. Then, with fundamentals and scrimmages, the injury-thinned squad finally took shape. Having a light team, Coach Conley had to resort to passing and running. A surprisingly efficient passing attack was formed and used. The team failed to tally in the first three games but scored once in each of the following games.

The Viking basketball season was more successful, with Central earning second place in the city cage tourney. With only one starter, Captain Dixon, graduating from the regular ranks, next season promises to be an even better one.

Every school's athletic department is at some time plagued with off years and Central is no exception. In the past two years Central had mediocre seasons, each of which has done no more than dent the impressive record of wins that belongs to the Purple and White.

"—Tollers ties up"

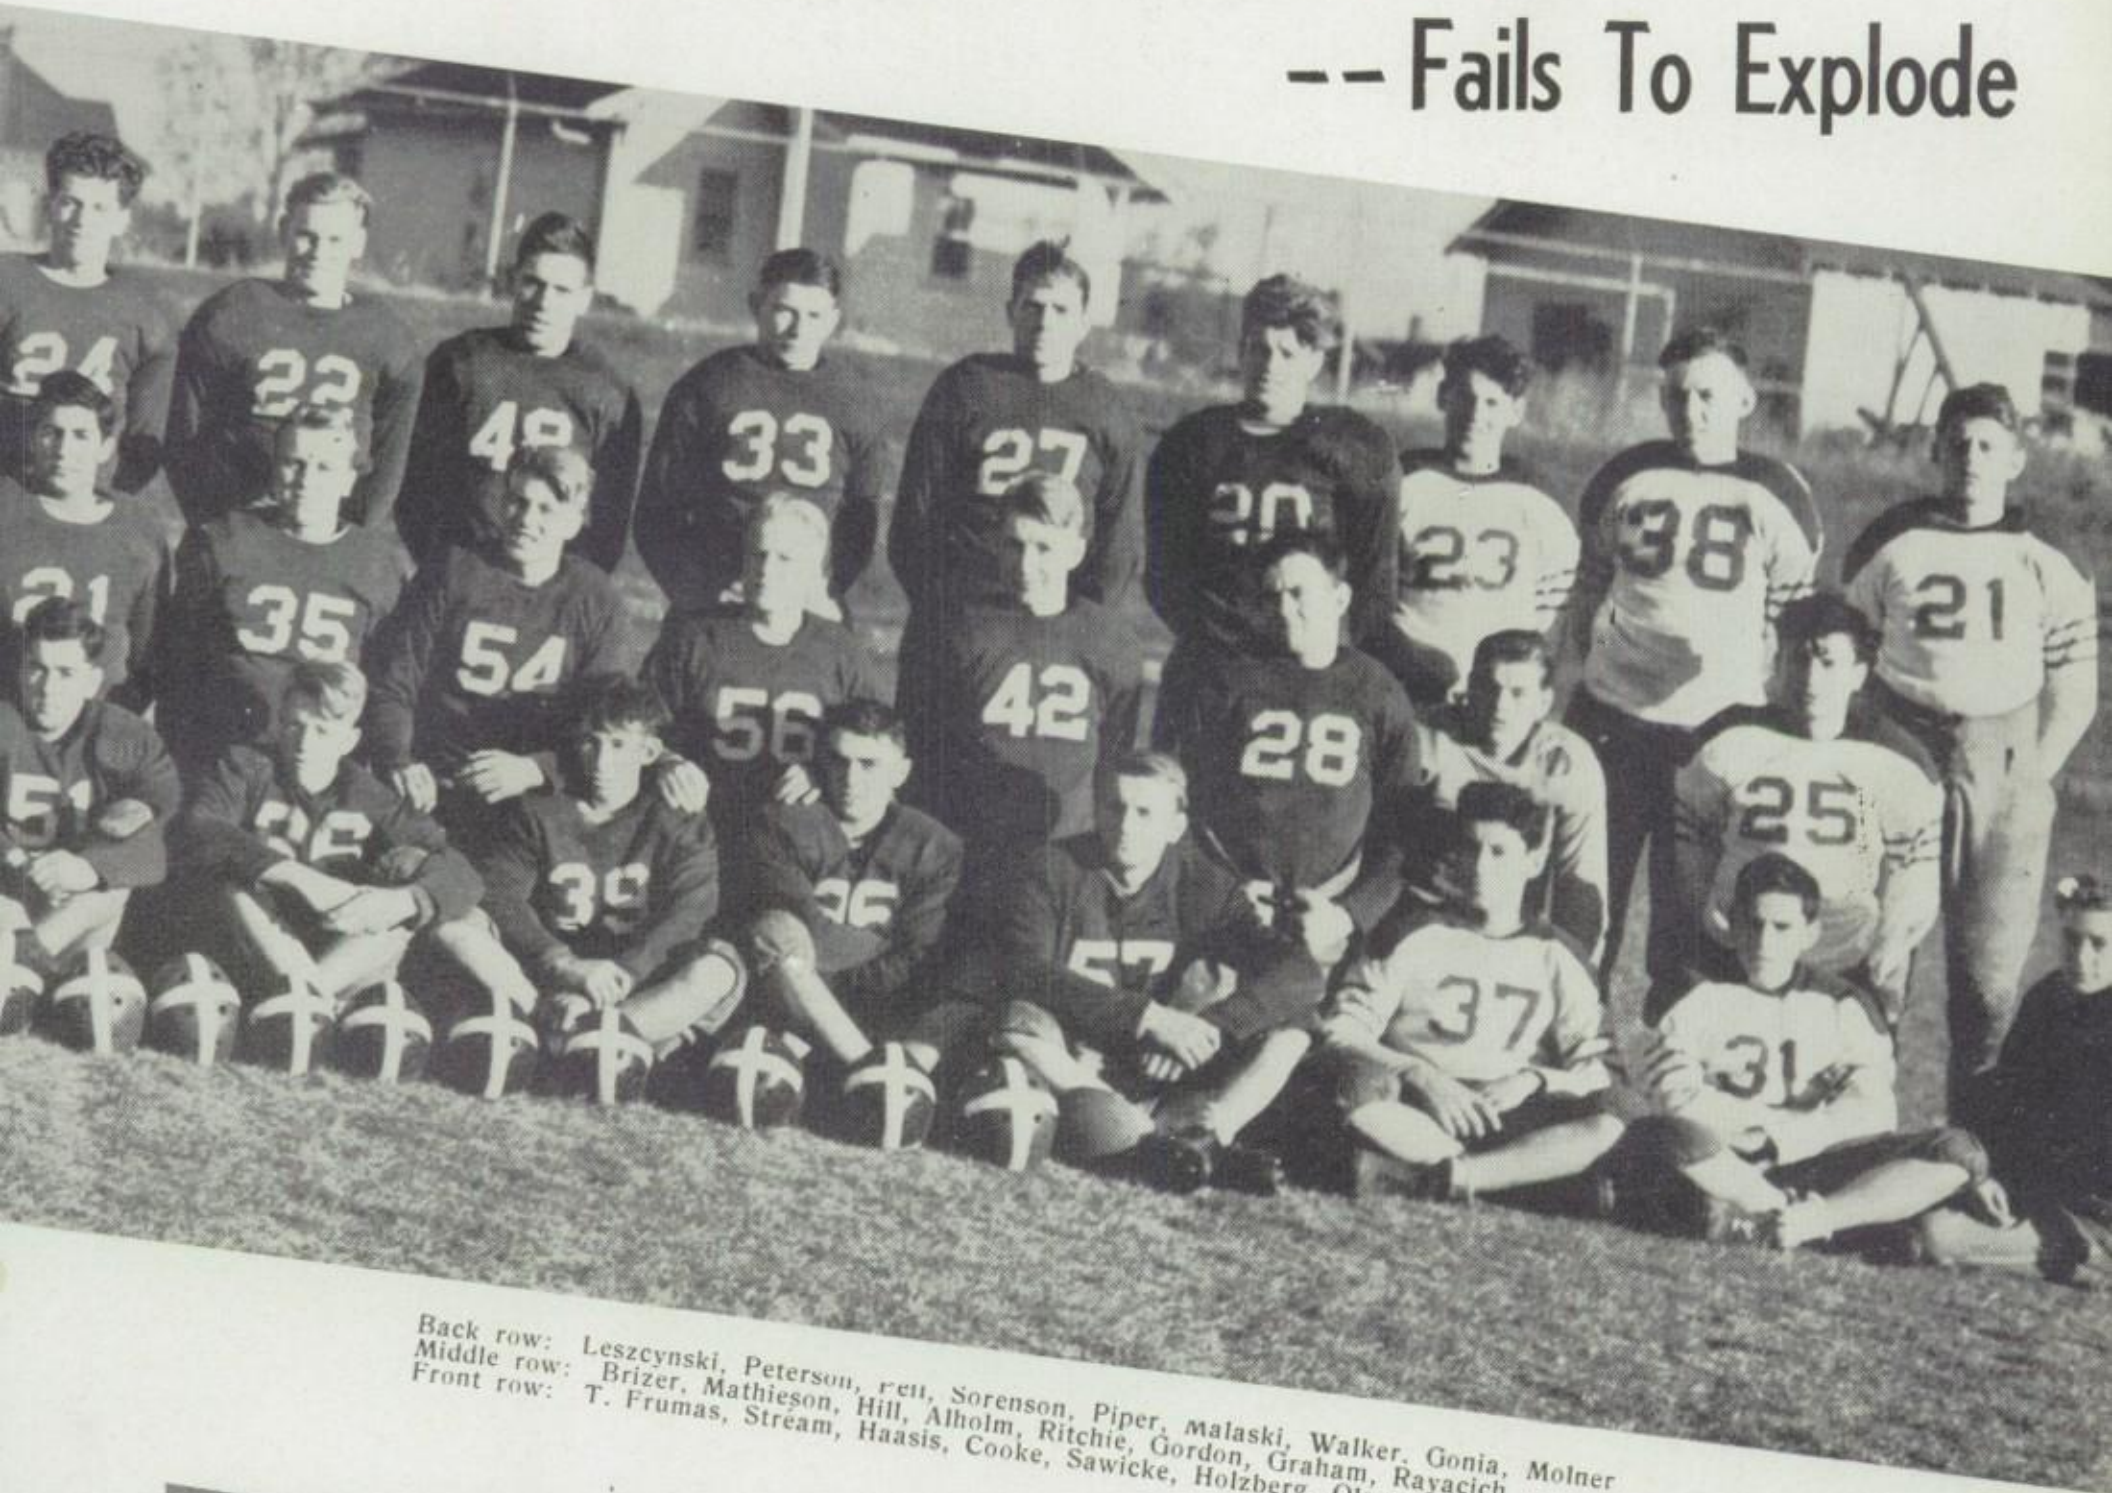

Sept. 23 . . . Duluth Cathedral's Hilltoppers stopped the Central Vikings in their opening game by a score of 20 to 0. Central's material looked green but showed a determined spirit.

Sept. 28 . . . Denfeld's football eleven and Dame Nature collaborated to defeat the Vikings 42 to 0. A freakish play occurred when Rayacich punted from the 10-yard line. The ball went almost straight up and was blown back for a Denfeld touchdown.

Oct. 6 . . . Central's Vikings took hold of things and out-gained the Ashland Purgolders 10 to 1. Each side failed to cross the pay stripe and the game ended in a scoreless tie. Scrimmage yielded 349 yards to 31 for the visitors.

Oct. 11 . . . With five minutes playing time remaining in the final quarter, Central broke loose with a passing spree that netted 7 points in the annual East-Central grid classic. Good running by Christianson and passes by Rayacich failed to bring further tallies and the game ended 13 to 7 for the Orientals.

Oct. 21 . . . Don Crassweller, star of Duluth Central, almost single-handed, wrecked the Superior Central Homecoming. Pivoting, straight arming, and brilliant running enabled him to tally 12 points and an average of eight yards on a run. The Vikings only score came when Hahn blocked a punt, and the gun ended the game 32 to 7.

Oct. 27 . . . The Old Abes from Eau Claire showed a young spirit to defeat the Central Vikings 26 to 6. Central's touch-down came through the efforts of Rayacich who scored standing up.

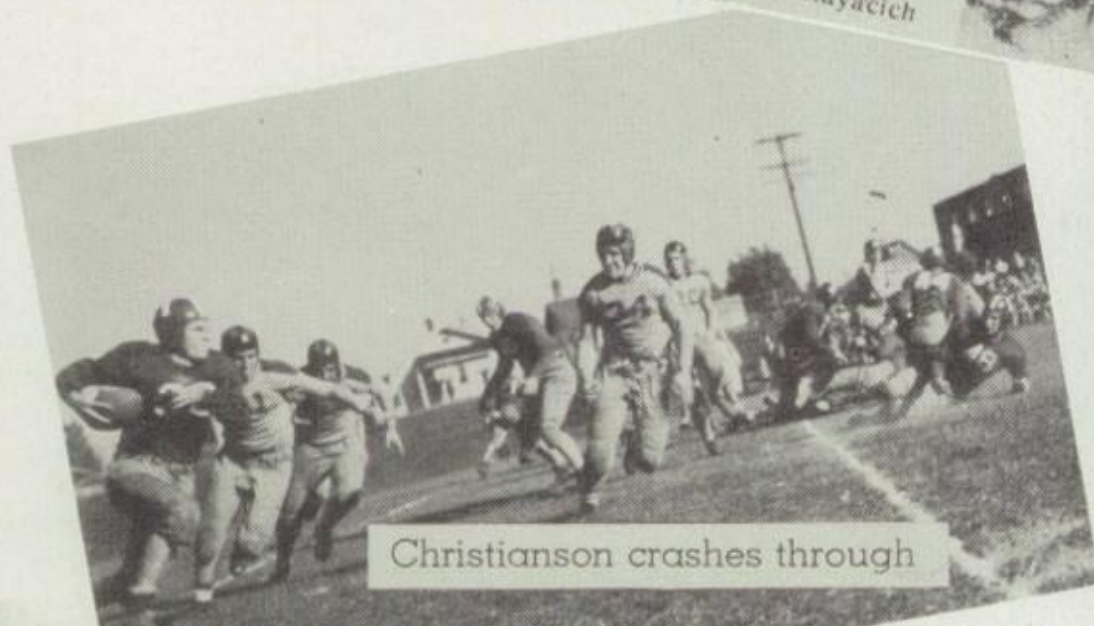

Nov. 3 . . . The final game with Eveleth brought to a close the careers of Soderberg, Leszcynski, Christianson, Mockler, and Peterson. Eveleth won 12 to 6, and Central closed the season without a victory.

Injuries, the jinx most feared by players and coaches alike, hounded the 1939 football squad from beginning to end. First, Jim Nolan, quarterback candidate, suffered a broken collar bone which kept him on the bench for the entire season. This happened in one of the first scrimmages. Then Don Gilmore, veteran guard, wrenched his shoulder while making a tackle in the initial game of the season. The bruise was so serious that it wrote "finis" to Don's football career.

Linemen Bill Fritz, Dick Hahn, and Bill Ford all suffered leg injuries and were forced to the sidelines for several weeks. Polly Tollers, hard running halfback, was unable to play the first half of the season because of a wrenched knee, but recovered in time to lead the Vikings in their final games.

Altogether, it was an unfortunate year, both in scores and in injuries. Coach Conley says he cannot recall a year when the injury jinx played such havoc with his squad.

Basketeers

"Sizzling shots in shorts"

After an unsuccessful football season, Central's athletic attentions were centered on basketball. Victories on the hardwood court would make up for the previous setbacks, and this was the main objective in the minds of the Viking fans. With four regulars graduating in 1939, Coach Conley found it necessary to build his 1940 basketball team around Dixon, Tollers, and Rehnstrand, who had been substitutes the previous season. Dixon, captain-elect, was the high scorer for the year with a total of 97 points. Each night the team drilled hard, with emphasis being placed on passing because of the lack of height which is so advantageous to a team.

Early in the season, a bid was received from Crosby-Ironton for a tournament which was to be held on the Range during Christmas. Since it was the early part of the season, pressure was put on to whip the team swiftly into shape. Central drew Bemidji for its first encounter and emerged the victor, 29-31. With 10 seconds to play, Lentz dropped a basket from mid-floor. This placed Central in the tournament finals. Crosby-Ironton was the next challenger. Central fell victim, 31-28. The team returned home with one loss and one win on its record.

Dixon

Central played four games with city teams, two with East, and two with Cathedral. The first game with East ended in a 33-19 victory for the Orientals. High scoring man for the Vikings was Dixon, who dropped in 12 points. In the second game with East the Vikings won 25-17. Again Dixon was high point man with nine tallies to his credit.

When the boys lost the first game with Superior Cathedral by only two points, there was a lot of speculating on the outcome of the second game. But Centralites again were disappointed. In the first game the score was 24-22; in the second, 35-25.

The first game with Cathedral was the closest game that was played all year. In the last minutes of play the Vikings put on a burst and trailed the Panthers to the very end of the game. They tried vainly in the last minutes of the game to make the necessary two points, but the Panthers' guard and the Zukaitis boys were too strong, and the game ended 24-22.

Getting slivers the hard way

Of the six games played with teams outside of the Twin Ports, the Vikings won only two. Central played two games with Eau Claire, lost the first 28-22 and won the second 20-25. The Vikings dropped the first game by six points, with Dixon as ace scoring man. Rehnstrand led the scoring in the second game with eight points.

The two games with Ashland were divided, the Purgolders winning the first 21-19, and the Vikings taking the second 27-20. Leading tally man in the first game was Rehnstrand with seven points. In the second tilt Dixon got 10. The Cloquet-Central game went to the former by eight points, 35-27. La Crosse and Central fought a close battle, but the Vikings won 34-33. Dixon made 14.

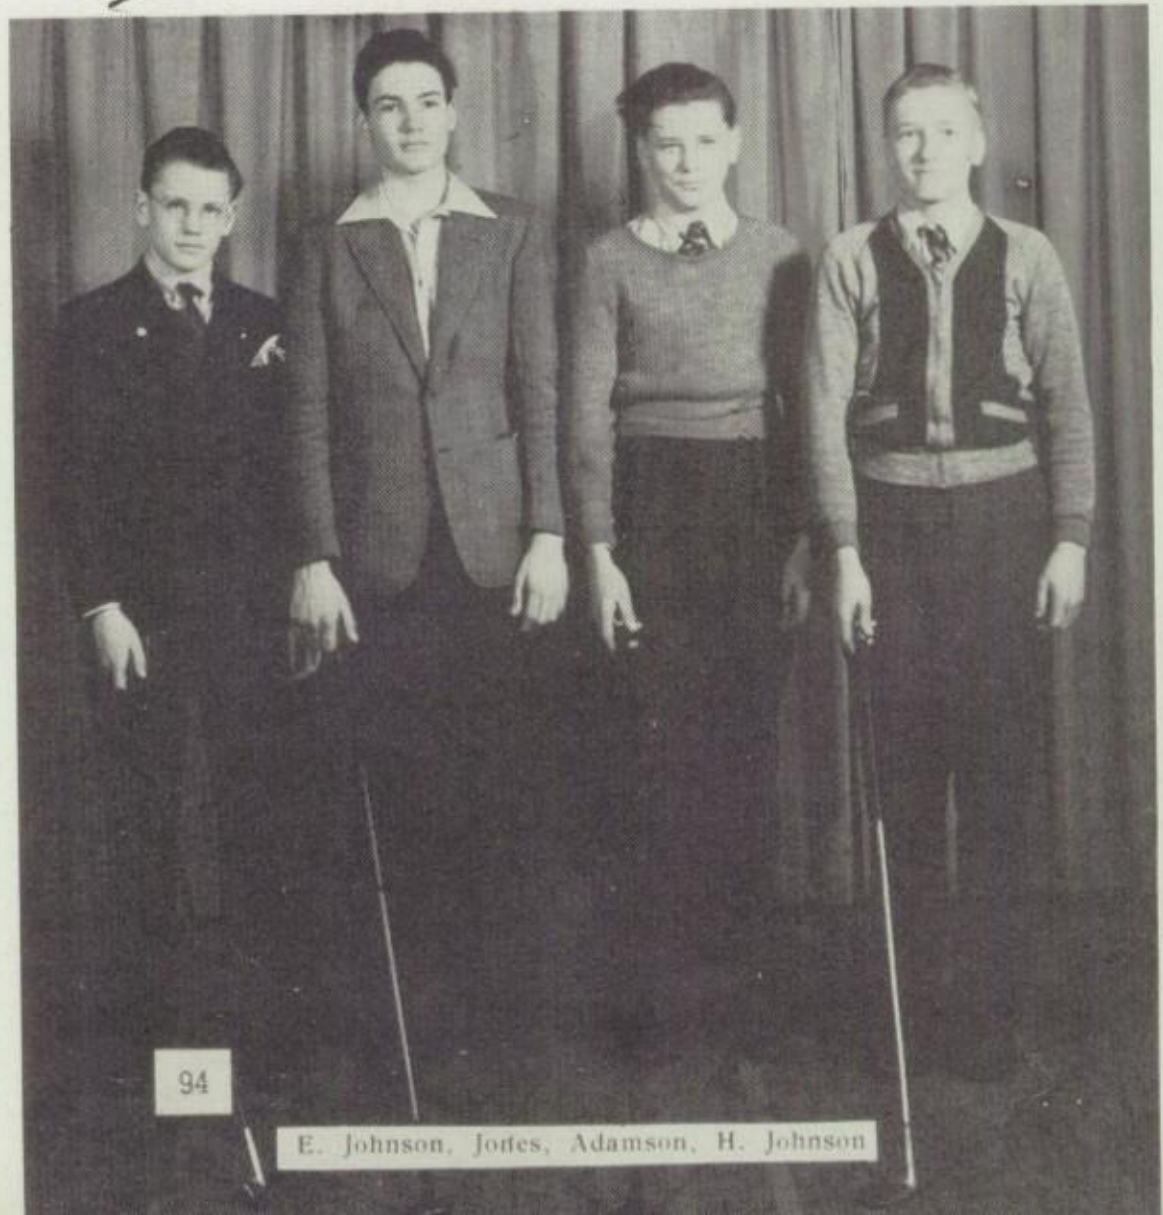

Bees, Tees, and Raquetteers

Vital to the basketball squad is the second team. Its purpose is to develop first string material to eventually take over duties on the first five. Under Coach Conley and Manager Nolan, the boys are taught ball handling fundamentals in preparation for the next season. A boy is moved up in proportion to his progress, therefore a newcomer must "earn his berth" on the first team. The second team plays the preliminary games and has an impressive list of wins in the "7 o'clock league."

Under direction of Coach George Dauplaise, ardent faculty links fan, the golf team lost two and tied three of their matches this year. Matches were exchanged with Duluth Central and Duluth Cathedral. These contests were played at both the Lester Park and Nemadji courses. In the interschool tournament in Duluth the Viking team placed third. Harvey Johnson, a junior and backbone of the squad, was third in the individual scoring. The team, with no graduates to weaken it, expects 1940 to be a banner year.

Tennis is a comparatively new sport at Central, having been inaugurated only two years ago. However, this year a half dozen promising players turned out for practice. Those who were outstanding in the elimination tournament were Edward Fritz and Lauren Dixon. Under Mr. Oiseth's coaching the boys' team practiced in the small gym during the winter months. Many days during the spring were spent on the State Teachers college concrete courts. Matches were played with Cloquet and Duluth.

Riflers, Paddlers, and Clubs

"Sharpshooters all"—that's the slogan of Central's Rifle Club. They meet once a week down in the wind tunnel, and blast away to their heart's content. Officers of the club are as follows: James O'Brien, president; Harvey Anderson, vice-president; John Johnson, secretary; Fred Molter, treasurer. Mr. Swanson acts as supervisor for the club.

The Rifle Club at Central is affiliated with the National Rifle Association at Washington, D.C., which in turn is affiliated with the Civilian Marksmanship Bureau. Each member shoots at a card 50 feet away, with five shots at each of the five targets on the card. The highest possible score anyone can make on one card is 250. The highest score shot by anyone this year was scored by Bill Schmit, who shot 198. The next highest scorers were Fred Molter and Bill Berquist.

Starting as a noon-time recreational project, ping pong, under the direction of Mr. Isaacson, gained in popularity until it became a leading sport. A heated tournament was held during the winter months. After the eliminations, Bob Kaner and Floyd Gustafson emerged victors in the doubles, defeating Eugene McCartney and Vernon Berkowitz two games out of three. Bob Spooner again annexed the singles championship by eliminating Lentz, three games out of five. Ping pong, usually considered as "just a game," is taking its place among Central's minor sports.

Best of Luck and Success in the future years to come

This year was Central's first with a faculty hockey coach. E. B. Nelson, shop instructor, spent much of his time improving green material. With Jack Vaughn at the helm, the Viking pucksters fought valiantly against more experienced teams and were defeated in all of their six games. The boys practiced faithfully every night after school, with no thought of reward and with little equipment. Central's team plans to play various high schools throughout Northern Wisconsin next year.

Scotty, Wee Willie, and Rita

For the first time in the history of Central a whole school assembly program has been given over to "swing". This took place in February when Wee Willie Whitsitt and his orchestra played for the Superior Cathedral pep rally. This, however, was not the first appearance of the orchestra. Beginning in 1938 they played for all the school band dances to raise money to send the school band to the district contest. The boys also played for proms throughout this region.

Feminine Fantasies

Betty Thompson attired in a chic white moire taffeta formal with a black velvet evening wrap, and her escort, Emerson Jones, step out for a gala evening.

Bright colored kerchiefs, "sloppy joe" sweaters, all-around pleated skirts, moccasin and saddle shoes, unique and novel bracelets and necklaces, fuzzy "porky pie" hats, and white "dickeys" highlighted the wardrobe of the high school girl this year.

Betty Johnson and Wayne Busse, strikingly arrayed in tennis togs await their turn for the courts.

Dick King dons a white reversible ski jacket while Eileen Fuller poses in a novel royal blue gabardine snow suit.

Faith Grimsrud and Dick King substitute boots and breeches for their everyday costumes.

Pat Ryan and Johnny Christianson fool Jack Frost in their latest version of a topper and coon skin.

The trend in boys' clothing for the year went along more radical lines with fly front sport coats of tweed or plaid, contrasting trousers, loud socks and ties, reversible jackets and corduroy hats taking the spotlight.

Mathematics holds an important place in the school life of a third of Central's student body.

In eighteen classes, taught by Miss Spielmacher, Miss Caleson, Mr. Glew, and Mr. Yaworski, there are approximately 540 students being taught one of the four phases of mathematics: algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and business mathematics. One course in mathematics is necessary for graduation from high school.

A 500th Birthday

is being celebrated by the printing industries this year. Truly, printing and its allied arts is one of the oldest and perhaps the most venerable of the trades of man. It has been a thing of beauty as shown by the early illuminated volumes of the 15th century; it is a service—serving today the practical purposes of an ever advancing world of trade and commerce; it is the great co-ordinator of all forms of communication. Printing after 500 years will advance, for printing is an art that innately harbors the tradition of progress through skill first, and then through seeing the task well done.

Thanks, seniors past and present. I have taken Senior Photographs for many years . . . Yes, and I am strong in my praise, for a nicer behaved lot of youngsters would be hard to find . . . Students are often boisterous, but in all these years not a thing in our studio has been disturbed. A record, I think, and a compliment to parents and faculty. I have always enjoyed working with them.

Dearest Ann,

Looking through your Echo, I happened upon a lovely poem called Songs. You probably just left it in here. Two lines particularly apply to you: "I keep singing every hour, I never, never
As sisters - we did have fun in '40 - and '39.
You a sophomore and I a junior - next year will have oodles of fun - I can feel it. As it will be our last year in High School together, we both must make the best of it! Remember all the secrets etc. . . . to a very dear sister

"True is the song which the Robins sing,
Pure is the flow of a crystal spring,
True is your faith in the God above,
So deep are the depths of Ann's love."

Dearest Analaura,

You've blossomed into a very dear young woman since you were first in my Sunday school class. It's been grand knowing ^{you}. Keep a song on your lips and as song in your heart and you'll get along. Best of luck.

Love,
Elaine Broberg

Dear Anna,
I won't write anything fancy all I will say is wishing you loads of luck, happiness & success.

Dear Ann,

Well another school year is over, and you've taken another step toward the beginning of life. I think I've known you long enough and well enough to say; You're one swell kid that's going far in life, you're independent, self-reliant, very likeable and loveable. I've enjoyed your acquaintance more and more, the longer I've known you. I hope to see you again in the future to see if my prophesy of your going far is right, as I know it will be.

The best in the world to you

Dear Ann,

Bill Sather. '40

To a swell kid.

To a real friend.

To a extra swell pal.

Success in your future journey.

Sincerely Yours

Dear Annie

How are you? Fine! My that's nice. Boy did we have fun Saturday night. You were the life of the party weren't you? No? Well well! Boy was I ever surprised. My stomach just felt funny after that. That present was sure swell. No? I was wondering last night why you weren't playing the games last night but I guess you were supervisor eh? No? Well, Well! Well this is what I want to tell you. I wish you loads of love, luck, success and happiness! No? Boy you were the life of the party last night weren't you? No?
Well I want to say goodbye to you now. So Goodbye and keep up your pep! No?

Dear Ann,

My locker partner - Shell Ann I known you about 4 years and they were a good four years.
He had a few arguments & so forth but then we made up. It was usually my fault, but then that's just me.

So much for that, it has been well ~~nothing~~ you knowing you. Here's wish you loads of success in the future. I hope you are still here next year.
